

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

Since we began in 1986, Coastal Mountains Land Trust has always relied heavily upon the support and efforts of volunteers in order to meet its land conservation mission. Today, the Land Trust needs volunteer support and energy more than ever. Faced with unprecedented growth rates throughout the Coastal Mountains region and by the responsibility of stewarding the more than 4,800 acres of land we have already protected, the Land Trust has a tremendous amount of work to get done in order to steward our conservation lands and to take care of the business of running a rapidly growing organization.

The key to meeting these demands and opportunities is our grassroots foundation: that is, support and commitment from our volunteer members. You have indicated a desire and willingness to volunteer your time, energy and expertise. We need to get a better idea of what, when, where, and how you would like to become more involved in the vital work that the Land Trust does. Our goal is to develop a well organized corps of volunteers that can have a clear and meaningful role assisting in Land Trust projects and activities on a regular basis. If you can invest some time helping out, please take a moment to identify your interest to us below and mail it back to us.

Thanks in advance, and please call or email Kristen at the Land Trust for further information, 236-7091 or kristenl@coastalmountains.org.
